Research or Thesis Phase

This stage includes carrying out the research and submission of the Title defense and Thesis. This phase would involve identifying a research problem, conducting the research study, and preparing a research report in the form of a thesis . Thesis stage has four main stages:-

I. TITLE DEFENSE

The candidate has to identify the research topic and present the title defense in the form of presentation. Once title is approved by the jury then candidate has to select the guide under whom he decides to complete his research. While the candidate can start thesis-related work immediately after upon completion of the first coursework, the topic and the design of the thesis can be considered final only when the thesis proposal has been formally approved by the Jury.

2. RESEARCH PROGRESS

During the research journey candidate would be required to give progress report of their research work after every 3 months once Title Defense presentation is done.

Research or Thesis Phase

3. DRAFT THESIS

Next step in the research phase would be the draft thesis presentation . the candidate will prepare a draft of the final thesis and make a presentation in the form of a seminar. After the seminar the candidate will be required to prepare the final thesis and submit it for evaluation. Thesis is ready for final submission or needs some changes will be decided in this level by the panel of jury.

4. FINAL THESIS

After draft thesis is approved by the jury ,then comes the final presentation of the thesis. Once approved it will be sent for external evaluation and if candidate qualifies , then final thesis is submitted for awardship.

GUIDE

A guide plays a vital role in the research journey of a scholar . AHRD has a list of eminent guides from IIM, IIT's associated with us and helped many scholars finish their research successfully. Candidate can choose from the list their guide and we will assist you in getting your registration with the guide.

If a candidate wants a guide outside the list he/she can do so by fulfilling certain formalities which is further mentioned in the FPM guidelines.

PLAGIARISM

Each and every assignment/thesis should go through the plagiarism process to qualify for the credits. Only 10% plagiarism is acceptable beyond that the assignment /article will be rejected . The fellow has to resubmit it to gain credit points.

HAPPY LEARNING!!!
